March 1, 1958

Gentlemen:

Enclosed is a copy of our first "wholesale" list. Although very modest in size, this symbolizes the beginning of a type of wholesale business which we feel you will agree is very much needed.

No doubt you have experienced as much trouble as we have locating good size, first-rate, specimen plants for those carriage-trade customers, industrial projects, park plantings, etc. In order to fill this need, our production department is, as rapidly as possible, building a stock of plants that will be released during the next few years only after they have reached proportions that meet the highest standards for quality and the demand that exists for larger-than-now-available sizes.

We invite your inspection of our growing fields. We are sure you will be pleased with the items on our current list and ask your indulgence when we decline to sell some of the other fine items you may see on the grounds that "they aren't ready yet". A phone call in advance will assure visitors prompt attention. Week-end visits by appointment only.

Sincerely,

William H. Frederick, Jr.
